Description of activities	Activities of the Research Group cover the following fields related to substrate pre-treatments for enhanced biogas production: i) development and investigation of the efficiency of microwave and combined microwave-chemical pre-treatment process to increase the biogas yielded and to accelerate the rate of anaerobic digestion of sludge, and agrifood waste and by-products; ii) investigation and development of pressure driven membrane separation process (ultrafiltration, nanofiltration, reverse osmosis) to concentrate the low organic matter contented substrate for enhanced biogas production iii) development of advanced oxidation processes to eliminate the inhibitory compounds for anaerobic digestion and to assist the degradation of heavily biodegradable compounds
